"Linger Awhile"

What is C.H.S.? It is an institution established for education; it is a building located at 6111 West Ridge Road; it is 1335 students all working together as a team, but it's even more than that. It is a championship football team, basketball team, cross country team, baseball team, and even pep section.

The year was 1964, and it was a good year. And the days, were good days-days when records were broken, trophies were won, pride was increased, and days when memories were made. For the whole student body, these were happy days, but for the senior class these were special days.

This is the year it all began-1960. Four years ago, four hundred frightened and green freshmen stood at the threshold of a new and exciting life. Today, two hundred and eleven still frightened and still green seniors await a chance to begin their own lives, each going a separate way.

Now and in the years to come, they'll be looking back on these days. The friends, the good times, the smiles that used to be. "They'll remember, and they'll smile . . . and they'll long to "LINGER AWHILE."

KNOWLEDGE . . .

“Linger Awhile”

1964 will come and go, and when it does, it will leave many students wishing they had lingered awhile longer on those math problems or in writing that term paper. That's the way it will always be. Students still spend much of their study time griping about how much homework they have and day dreaming about the Varsity Club dance, the football game Friday night or even tomorrow morning when they can see "him" again.

In the future when the alumni "Linger Awhile" on the big events of their high school lives, nine chances out of ten it will be a social event or an extra curricular activity, but on the tenth try maybe they will see that what they've become in the years between high school and that will be because of what went on in the classroom and how they used those extra study hours.

Math And Science Courses Are Essential Factors

Roger Book and George Chakos, senior physics students, use both their knowledge of math and science in solving a complicated physics problem.

(Left) Who said physics is all work and no play? Karen Bank illustrates one of its basic laws through the use of a bicycle wheel. (Above) Freshmen are required to take either biology or general science.

The principles involved in communications are one area of study in general science.

Of Progress In Modern Space Age

Barbara Cooley centrifuges her qual in an effort to determine just what the unknown solution contains.

The course in physics provides lab periods for experimentation as well as class room lectures.

General math stresses the basic axioms of mathematics. Students obtain a fundamental background in math as freshmen.

America has long been famous for great achievements in the field of technology, the practical application of science to industry. Thus, science is of great importance to our American society.

Calumet offers a variety of science courses to suit these needs. The study of science begins with biology, a study of plants and animals, and general science, where basic scientific fundamentals are taught. For students wishing to continue in this field, chemistry and advanced chemistry, consisting of lab experiments and lectures, are offered. Physics, the study of matter and energy, is also offered.

The wide variety of math courses offered at Calumet provides a student with adequate knowledge of mathematical operations including practically anything from business math courses to trigonometry.

Physical Education Classes Comply With The Late President Kennedy's

Request For A More Rigorous Training Program

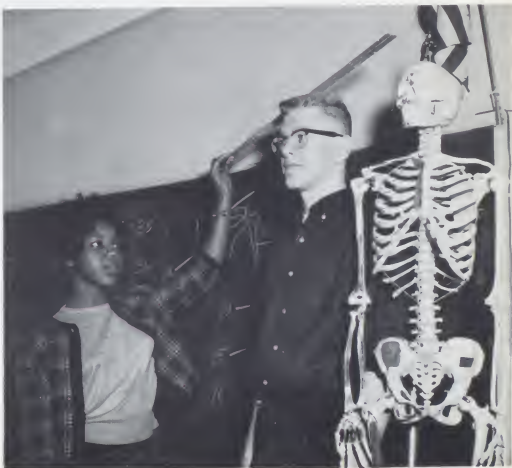

Dressing for gym constitutes an important part of the final grade in girls' physical education classes. Here, Mildred Brown waits her turn for inspection.

Physical fitness requires the proper knowledge and conditioning of the body. It is primarily for this reason that gym and health and safety classes are required subjects in the freshman and sophomore years at Calumet High School. It is here that the students learn how to properly care for and build their bodies in such a way beneficial to themselves as well as others.

A well planned gym period once a day for the freshmen provides an hour to relax from their rather new, rugged and unfamiliar schedules. It gives them time to "let off steam" and so channels this stored energy into healthful and vigorous activities.

Sophomore health and safety students must learn the scientific names of all bones in the body, and for this purpose, a plastic skeleton has been provided. Margaret Shufford finds that Jerry Nimetz is just a little taller (and a little wider) than the skeleton.

Fundamental English And History

"Ask not what your country can do for you—ask what you can do for your country."

Geographical location of historical events is just as important as the dates on which they took place. A history student works drawing her map of the United States to scale.

The principle purpose of the history course is to give the student a background through which he may better understand the fundamental operation of the government. In U.S. and world history classes, students tour European and Asian continents as well as our own to get a picture of how foreign governments are related to ours and how they influenced the development and growth of our nation. In senior government and economics classes emphasis is placed on the Constitution and the management of the federal government, as well as on production and other components of our free enterprise system.

Though most students fail to realize it, English is one subject he cannot do without. Correct grammar, spelling, and sentence construction may one day win him a fine job, just as poor English could easily cost him that same position.

At Calumet three years of English are required, with a semester of grammar and literature making up each year's work.

Many English courses require that students memorize thirty or more lines of Shakespeare. Cramming to get hers done on the night before it is due, Connie Mullens finds the work too much for her, and decides to snatch 40 winks.

Are Essentials In Calumet's Curriculum

Jim Valentine, atop a stack of books, enjoys a 7-Up and his transistor radio while doing reference work for his English term paper.

All homework is not done at home! Bob Santos confers with a fellow bus rider about an English assignment.

Sophomore Literary Club members evaluate literary material from several sources trying to determine which would make appropriate reading for their magazine.

Checking on their projects in the kiln art students.

Language, Music, And Art

Chorus students are tested two by two to see that each student knows his or her part note perfect.

Through any of the three language classes at Calumet, students may gain a better understanding of our foreign neighbors. All three courses, Spanish, Latin, and French, stress conversational speaking as well as correct pronunciation and written vocabulary.

Art students participate in any number of worthwhile projects. These include various kinds of drawings, clay sculpturing, and printing.

Three choirs at Calumet direct their efforts towards successful spring and winter concerts. In addition, the A Cappella Choir participates in a Spring Festival along with six other schools. The choir also provides musical entertainment for P.T.A. meetings, induction services, assemblies, and Senior Awards Day.

Another first at Calumet this year, the Literary Club, attempted to publish a literary magazine composed of the works of the students.

Language classes not only stress proper usage and pronunciation of foreign vocabularies, but also place an emphasis on history and geography of the country.

Students Venture Into Prospective Fields; Sophomores Form Literary Club

The two mixed choruses' classroom efforts are channeled toward presenting successful Christmas and spring concerts.

Commercial Education Enables Students To Assume Responsible Positions

Typing students, Robert Brown and Barry Smith, type to music to acquire the desired rhythm.

Positions as typists, secretaries, stenographers, filing clerks, and bookkeepers await those who have done well in the field of commercial study. These courses prepare students for jobs immediately after high school.

Two years of both shorthand and typing are offered. Office practice familiarizes students with the operation of modern business machines among which are adding machines, the dictaphone, and the mimeograph machine.

A complete business education also includes general business and business arithmetic, where mathematical principles are applied to common business transactions. Business law illustrates the relationship between various legal concepts and everyday business experiences.

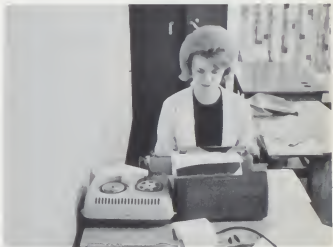

In addition, retailing, salesmanship, and book-keeping are offered for those who wish to extend their knowledge in this field.

In The Business World

(Above) After yards and yards of calculation, Angie Tarchia checks to see if her answer is correct.

Students in office practice must learn the efficient use of different types of office equipment. Here Diana Jelenek types a letter through use of a dictaphone.

A first year typing student, faced with the responsibility of learning the position of all 43 keys, must also acquire rhythm and build up speed.

In Preparation For Future Careers,

For the many students at Calumet whose future plans don't include college, the curriculum offers a series of courses classified as vocational.

Among these are the home economics classes whose four year course is divided into units such as home planning, home nursing, and foods and family living. In addition cooking and nutrition classes are offered.

Boys, whose interests lie in the industrial field, may enroll in any one of the many shop courses and may choose from wood or metal shop. They not only acquire technique and skill in handling machines, but also engage in the construction of many projects. A course in mechanical drawing is also offered to prepare boys for the training they will get in the shop courses. Here proper terminology and an idea of what to expect from other vocational courses are presented.

"But when she goes there"—well the cooking classes must have been busy today. Are you sure Betty Furness started this way?

Safety first is the foremost objective in all shop classes. The equipment includes safety glasses like those worn by John Santos.

Boys in metal shop construct many projects throughout the year. Skills learned here will be valuable when these students apply for a job.

Students Acquire Vocational Training Today

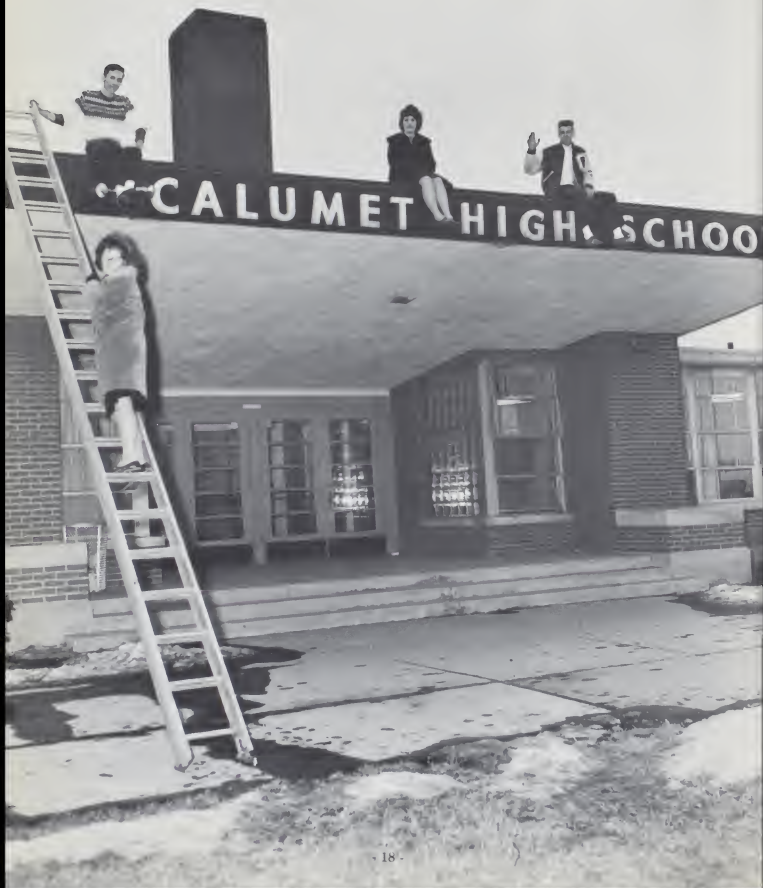

Learning how to use a file and a vice is an important phase of shop, as demonstrated by Tom Gervais, Dan Chmielewski, and Ken Reeder.

(Above) An important phase in the shop courses is learning proper care and maintenance of the machinery.

Cooking and home economics classes prepare girls such as Judy Sneed, Barbora Kinder, and Condy Carpenter, for positions as dieticians, cooks, and future homemakers.

"Linger Awhile"

A forgotten locker combination, that special "toll, dork, and handsome" someone, the doily race to beat the teachers to the lunch line . . . all these are a part of our student life. They are the small insignificant incidents that will mean so much to each of us as we "Linger Awhile" over 1964 in later years. Student life is the doily grind, the sometimes dull rut of which each of us is a part, but without which none of us could exist. The 1964 Chieftain brings to you in this section bits and pieces of the year—its almost-forgotten student life.

Ever Wonder What The Average C.H.S. Teen-Ager

A typical teen-age problem - flat tires. Bud Riegle decides to supervise while Jo Orban struggles with a wrench. Come on Buddy, give her a hand!

The average teen-age boy admits to spending one hour and six minutes studying each day, but all studying isn't done in study hall as shown by David Simko.

Is Like?

Jim Valentine combines his average one hour and six minutes of study time with his nightly three hours of listening to the radio. He is also polishing off one of 7.3 bottles of pop per week.

This year the '64 Chieftain conducted a survey to determine what the average C.H.S. teen-ager is like. Here, in words and pictures, is the average girl: she's 5'4 inches tall and weighs 111.7 pounds. She likes the color blue, English class, pizza, swimming, the Beatles, WLS, Mr. Pavlik, and Outer Limits. This brown-eyed brown-haired lass gets up at 6:37 each morning, has 3.5 dates per month, has attended 5.3 basketball games and 2.9 football games, and two and a half shaws a month. You'll usually find her with about $1.39 and 46.3 pictures in her wallet. How does she spend her evenings. She listens to the radio for 3 hours and 37 minutes, studies 1 hour and 16 minutes, and spends another hour and 7 minutes on the phone before "hitting the sack" where she sleeps for 7 hours and 20 minutes.

If you are 5'8 inches tall, weigh 135.5, have 1.8 brathers and 1.6 sisters, and brown hair and brown eyes, you're the average C.H.S. boy. This seventeen-year-old spends $2.58 on gas each week, likes the color blue, steak, and math class. He watches TV for 3 hours and 6 minutes each night, and his favorite programs are Outer Limits and Bonanza. He has attended 9.5 of the basketball games and 5.4 of the football games. His favorite sport is baseball.

(Right) Marty Kruk takes time from school activities to stop at a near-by drive-in and drink her average 3.6 Cokes per week.

(Right) The average teen-age girl takes home 2.16 books each night and studies for 1 hour and 8 minutes.

Alan Anderson doesn't do all of his 7 hours and 56 minutes of sleeping at home!

D.E. Added to C.H.S. Curriculum;

"He who serves others without thought of compensation is often best repaid." This statement may be applied to the many Calumet students who offer their time and effort toward improving school life and to benefit classmates. These students perform various tasks such as selling candy in candy store, working in the cafeteria, and serving as chemistry lab, gym and office assistants.

Early preparation for future careers in the field of distributive education is offered to junior and senior students beginning this year. The distributive education course is a combination of salesmanship and retailing. The object of D.E. is to thoroughly acquaint the student with the skills and knowledge of the business world which prospective employers may desire. Class activities include practice in selling goods, making change, etc. These skills are then applied in the second year of D.E. when students actually work at jobs, located for them by the D.E. teacher.

"This should fit my customer's need!" says D.E. student Julia Harris who works at Montgomery Wards.

"I believe a size 8 will just fit," remarks senior, Leroy York.

Assistants Are Necessary To Smoother Running School Organization

Office assistants Julie Valenga and Laurann Castle record the day's absentees. This involves checking names from each teacher's five classes.

Mrs. Bjorlund

Mrs. Crosby

Sherry Riddle, chemistry lab technician, renders her services by scrubbing the sulfur out of a graduated cylinder.

"No, Dennis, you didn't quite get all the cheese off the dish," remarks one of the cooks trying to domesticate Dennis Gill.

Four lettermen, Tom Wilson, Randy Stamper, Marty Schmidt and Jerry Poortinga begin a new day--a typical day at Calumet.

Senior members of the tougher Calumet gridmen stand for deserved recognition at the final pep session of their last season. They retire with title no less than Co-champs of the Calumet Conference.

School life sometimes seems terminated solely by the shrill ringing of bells, and filled only with the soft monotones of the teacher's voice slowly lulling you to sleep. At other times it seems there is never enough time for anything, maybe basketball games, or sock-hops, but never time for the infinite stream of homework the teachers smilingly assign.

One day we will look back on these frantic, mad, days and laugh over all the embarrassing incidents that we cried over yesterday, remember all the old school heroes, the old nicknames, and the countless other things . . . when there is time to "Linger Awhile".

"When There Is

Deep in meditation, sophomore, Tom Phelps, stands alone at the end of a long day.

Time To "Linger Awhile"

Tom Wilson looks as if he's perfectly able to tackle his share of the work presented to him and the other team captains Jim Willsey and Lonnie Anthony by class officers Alice Green and Priscilla Shuster.

Senior members of the cross country team R. Fortner, M. Schmidt, B. Rumba, M. Ligocki, L. Huddleston, R. Book, and D. Kurts are acknowledged at a combined football and cross-country assembly.

While everyone is excited about beating the "Panth" off the Panthers, Milko Poncheff is quietly going about her office duties.

"Trying to make o fast get away" before getting caught at the locker between classes, Carolyn Lohmon gets "caught"—but not at the locker—in it!

Calumet's $1300 Contribution To

The annual Polio Drive slave sale opened with the auctioning of Carolyn Duke. She was purchased by a "syndicate" whose members included Mike Bucko, Lee Scott, Tony Valencio, Bud Riegle, and Rony Stomper. The boys supplied her with a "little red wagon" in which to carry their books from class to class, all part of a slave's job. All slaves were required to wear tags which read "I am the slave of. . .".

This year, Calumet students zealously combined brains and brawn in one of the year's most worthwhile endeavors, and walked away with top honors.

Thirteen hundred dollars was the grand total submitted by Calumet students to the March of Dimes Foundation. This was double the amount brought in by any other Lake County high school.

The money was raised by selling "slaves", apples, and raffle tickets to students at lunch hours during the school week. Contests, such as "Campus Cuties" and the election of the polio king and queen, were also held to raise funds. On Saturdays and Friday nights teens were permitted to collect donations in area business locations.

The winning schools were announced at a dance given by the March of Dimes, and trophies were presented. Mrs. Lela Cooke, Carolyn Duke and Tony Valencia made preliminary arrangements for the fund-raising activities.

March Of Dimes Captures Area Polio Drive Trophy

Jeon Nies and Carol Blenkinship were first and second prize winners in the sophomore class raffle. Jeon, who won first place, was given a choice between $1 and a surprise package. She took the package and received a pair of pink shoe laces.

Polio king and queen, Doug Strickle and Shorin Stoge, captured their titles by turning in the largest donation to the polio fund. Donations were collected from students.

Sophomore class President John Coffman selects the winning raffle ticket stub, while Mrs. Schmidt, class sponsor, and Rito Zurowick prepare to present the winner with the first prize.

'63-'64 Homecoming Portrays "Disneyland By Night"

Carolyn Duke, adorned in the traditional crown and cape of Homecoming royalty, rides the first place freshman float, "The Mark Twain River Boat".

The junior float, representing "Tomorrow Land" sported a colorful rocket and an animated "moon monster". Riding the float is queen candidate Jackie McLean.

This year's Homecoming festivities formally began as G.A.A. participants donned football jerseys for Calumet's annual "powderpuff" football game. The sophomore "Julius Caesar's Romans" were defeated by junior-senior "Warrior-ettes, 28-13. Later, the tired, puffing players joined the rest of the crowd to be led in cheers around a roaring bonfire.

On November 4, Homecoming Day, students assembled in the gym in honor of the varsity football players who were introduced by Mr. Robert Joseph and presented with a cake furnished by the sophomore class. Homecoming queen candidates wearing gift corsages, were introduced by John Coffman, sophomore class president, and the four finalists were acknowledged. School spirit was especially apparent as excited students cheered louder than usual.

Attendance at the game that night reached a record high; over 2,000 tickets were sold, and the bleachers were packed with cheering, screaming fans. Hundreds of colorful balloons floated above the crowd as the C.H.S. band played the school song and the players came onto the field.

Weeks of work and worry were found worth it, as the lovely floats carrying the nominees, paraded around the track during the half-time. The theme of the senior float was "Fantasyland"; the juniors selected "Tomorrowland"; the sophomores chose "Adventureland"; and the freshmen, "Frontierland". The general theme was "Disneyland by Night".

The long awaited moment finally arrived as Jerry Paar-tinga, M.C., crowned Carolyn Duke Homecoming queen, and presented the first place trophy for the floats to the freshman class.

Calumet Warriors defeated Wirt's Troopers, 7-0.

At the Homecoming dance, which climaxed the day, the presentation of the game's football was made to Randy Stamper, "Mr. Football 1963". Randy and Carolyn led the first dance and reigned the remainder of the evening.

Perhaps the seniors were a little sad, as they knew this would be the last Homecoming they would attend as high school students; the freshmen perhaps were already eagerly looking forward to their next three. This, as always, was the biggest event of the '63-64 year at Calumet.

In Colorful Float Parade

The senior float depicts a scene from Alice in Wonderland where the cardmen are "painting the roses red" in the Queen of Hearts' courtyard. Carolyn Duke rode the float before the coronation.

Oops! Tony Valencia is caught beneath the stack of wood for the bon fire.

Laurann Castle is seated on the saphamare float, "Adventure Land".

Tense Record Crowd, Bright Lights-The Thrill Of Homecoming

Nominated by the Chemistry Club and elected by the entire student body, Carolyn Duke was crowned Homecoming Queen October 4, Homecoming night. Aside from being a cheerleader for four years and a G.A.A. officer for three, she is President of the Student Council, and an active member of Pep Club, Secretarial Club, and the senior class planning committee. In her junior year Carolyn was crowned Prom Attendant and was also sent to California for the National Student Council Convention.

After graduation in May, Carolyn plans to attend Indiana University Extension where she will major in elementary education.

Miss Homecoming
1963-64

Mr. Football 1963-64

During his four years in high school, "Mr. Football," Randy Stamper has majored in English, math, science, and history, and maintained a "B" average overall. He has participated actively in the Varsity Club, Calumet Players, Pep Club, and Senior Honor Society, while majoring in both track and football.

Randy was elected Mr. Football by the members of the football team from among all senior players.

In the fall Randy plans to enter college where he hopes to major in dentistry while continuing his football career.

“Linger Awhile”

The year-1964; the place-Calumet High School; the time-your high school life; the people-your friends.

It's not the building that brings us back to "Linger Awhile" on this year, because the building is just an empty shell, but it's the people we knew and talked to and walked with and sought after-yes, it's the people that made the school and the year.

Those borrowed geometry assignments, the extra-long football practices, and even the more special events will be forgotten, but the memory of the friends with whom we shared these happenings will linger with us for many years to come.

In this section the 1964 Chieftain brings back to you the people, the friends, the familiar smiles of the year-1964.

CLASS OF '64

Jerry Poortinga
President

Roger Book
Vice-President

Jo Orban
Secretary

It began four long years ago in the fall of 1960. Four hundred green freshmen entered Calumet for what was to be the high point in their lives-their high school years. Class officers and planning committee elected, they started work on "Casey Junior", the Homecoming float, for which they took first place. The Class of '64, as they became known, also sponsored a dance to increase the class treasury. As sophomores they again captured first place in the Homecoming float contest with "School Days, School Days". The Class of '64, upperclassmen at last, presented the Prom, "Three Coins in a Fountain", at the Hotel Gary, April 5, 1963, in honor of the graduating class. They also instituted the "Dime Climb" to raise money for the polio drive.

Two hundred seniors, a little wiser and more experienced than they were on that fall morning four years ago, are ready to accept the responsibilities of young adults. Receiving their diplomas, the Class of '64 becomes—Alumni '64.

Borboro Nosby was selected as the 1963-64 Daughters of the American Revolution award winner by the faculty and senior students. The award was based on leadership, character, personality, and scholarship.

Leadership, scholarship, and character, three most important qualities, were the basis for the choice of the 1963 Girls' and Boys' State delegates. Both girls and boys were sent to Indiana University where they attend a seminar on Indiana government. The Girls' Staters met Governor Matthew Welsch, senior Senator Birch Bayh, as well as representatives from the Indiana Civil Defense Department. Boys' State delegates Rick Mantz and Jerry Poortinga attended numerous lectures on a variety of topics pertaining to government. At both institutes the practical application of government was stressed by having the delegates join political parties and run for public offices. Karen, Carolyn, and Jo were sponsored by the Lions, the American Legion Auxiliary, and the clubs at Calumet, while Rick and Jerry were sponsored by the Junior Honor Society and the Black Oak American Legion.

CLASS OF '65 JUNIORS

Far the Class of '65, as with each junior class, becoming upperclassmen involves the assumption of numerous responsibilities and many projects. Their main project is the Prom, this year entitled "Some Enchanted Evening", which they gave for the graduating Class of '64. Sufficient funds for the Prom were raised by a candy sale and the annual Homecoming Dance, which they sponsored. This year, also, a photographer was chosen to take senior pictures.

The junior year is a time to look forward with great anticipation to becoming seniors. And yet, the looking forward holds a little regret, for '65 is for them the final year of high school. And now there remains only one year in which to live those special moments which will later become only memories of the high school years.

The Class of '66, having moved up a notch from freshmen to sophomores, are no longer "low men on the totem pole". As freshmen they made their mark by taking first place in the 1962-63 Homecoming float contest with a rickshaw representing Japan.

This year's sophomores sponsored a dance in an attempt to build up their treasury. They also held a raffle in which nearly $40 was raised and donated to the polio drive. First place, a pair of pink shoe laces, was awarded to Jean Nies.

As the 1963-64 school year draws to a close, the sophomores choose their ring styles and eagerly anticipate the arrival of their first year as upper-classmen.

FRESHMEN

Brenda Brooks
President

Sandy Sharp

Jim Ferguson

Dana Williams

There is a big difference between eighth and ninth grade, but each year a new class must make the adjustment. High school presents new courses, new teachers, new schedules, and upperclass authority to the freshmen all at once, while each of the freshmen tries to fit in and to be noticed by those around him.

This year's freshmen "fit in" to traditional Homecoming ceremonies by taking first place in the Homecoming float contest. Their float, representing Frontierland, was a replica of the Mark Twain riverboat.

Although the freshmen might not agree, the seniors would say, "the freshmen are the luckiest class at C.H.S." with three remaining years filled with unlimited opportunities and excitement. When the Class of '67 holds the title of seniors, they are sure to realize the truth in these few words.

A teacher's job isn't just teaching. Mr. Day, ushering at a basketball game, holds back a "mob" of students.

"Linger Awhile"

Thanks to the student participation and school spirit, the student body and faculty members witnessed one of the most successful years in sports that Colomet has ever known.

The teams consisted of boys with the will, the power, and the guidance to set and break record after record. Through practice they gained in skill and knowledge. They showed through courage and a fine display of sportsmanship throughout the year that it isn't only winning the game that counts.

During the 1963-64 school year the Warriors of C.H.S. set out on the war path in hot pursuit of victory. The time of capture, the great escape, the near miss, the close call, whether we scalped them or got scalped ourselves, on these moments we would like to "Linger Awhile".

(Right) Cross country requires team effort, and C.H.S. harriers (top) Roger Book, Ron Fortner, Bob Rumba, Marty Schmidt, and Jerry Loy closely followed by Martin Ligocki struggle to achieve it even in the last few seconds of the meet.

Harriers Clinch

Conference Championship; Place Fifth In State Meet

Calumet's harrier squad, led by ace runner Don Kurts, gave the faculty and student body many fond memories during the 1963-64 school year.

The harriers, coached by Mr. Chris Traicoff, went on to victory after victory suffering only one defeat, to Gary Roosevelt, in all their dual meets. In a triangular meet against Portage and Edison, C.H.S. harriers broke the school record when five of them took the first five places in the meet in less than ten minutes.

The harriers defended their conference championship for the second year. After winning the sectionals, they advanced to the regionals where they came in third to Valparaiso and Gary Roosevelt. They defeated Roosevelt, however, in the final meet and climaxed the season ranking fifth in the state.

The gun is sounded, and Calumet harriers begin the two-mile run at Gleason Park against Gary Roosevelt.

The 1963-64 Cross Country Sectional and Conference Champs include: (kneeling) Jerry Brawley, Martin Ligocki, Marty Schmidt, and Larry Huddleston. (standing) Bob Rumba, Rager Book, Ran Fortner, Don Kurts, Bob Burkland, and Jerry Loy. The team is coached by Chris Traicoff.

Larry Huddleston, followed by Ron Fortner, Roger Book, and Marty Schmidt, rounds the turn in a lap at Cressmoor Golf Course.

Don Kurts, awarded the Most Valuable Player trophy in cross country for the 1962-63 and 1963-64 seasons, finished third in the La Porte regional meet. Behind him is John Collet of Griffith.

Supplement Sports Program At C.H.S.

Every Saturday morning, the boys of Calumet High School that are not engaged in interscholastic competition, compete against each other in twenty minute basketball games for the title of "Intramural Champs."

The 1963-64 finishing record was rather different from the previous five year history of Intramurals. Out of fourteen participating teams, no team won all their games, and no team lost every game.

Then "Chiefs", champs this past year, finished with a nine win and one loss record. Vernon Brown, 6'4", managed to help this record along with a very good job of rebounding along with the fast action of Freddie and Dennis Hodge.

Other teams who finished with good records in the Intramurals were as follows: the Magnificos, Buzzards, Monarchs, and the Nomads, last year's champs.

Winners of the 1963-64 Intramural program include: Gregory Peak, Dennis Hodge, Sam Mitchell, Freddie Hodge, John

It took Calumet seven years to be owners of their first winning season of football. The eighth year produced one of the highest rated clubs in the county. The best record recorded at C. H. S. was one of prestige.

In the first year of Calumet Conference play our team tied Griffith, an undefeated school for the Conference Co-Championship. If we improve as much next year as we did in 1963 the other teams in the Calumet Conference might as well sell their equipment, and profit some from the season.

Forced out of bounds by two Niner gridmen, Bob Brown stops the clock and saves valuable time to rally for touchdown after Andreans lone six-pointer.

It's "Rapid Robert Brown" under those Partoge foes, but he wasn't there before a sizeable gain was marked off by the junior speedball.

Lannie Anthony, Calumet's most valuable player grinds out the yards in the Partoge contest. The Warriors were victorious 9-6.

Anthony again grinds out on all-important second down play. The Warriors continually gained important yardage against their conference competitors.

Warriors & Panthers To Share Calumet Conference Title

When football teams keep filling their rosters year after year with boys who can and do play outstanding football, their future is destined to be bright.

At Calumet the freshmen football team has lost but two games in their last twenty outings. One team, the "65" team was undefeated, and the next two successive year's teams only lost one game a piece.

Led by halfback, Leroy Anthony, and guard Willy Kennedy, the freshmen ground out a 7-1 season, losing only to Tolleston 6-0. This outstanding record alone is a compliment to Coach Len Schmidt and his fine athletes.

Varsity Gridders Presented

Senior quarterback, Rick Mantz, is tackled while gaining valuable yards in C.C. competition.

"Rapid Robert" Brown, breaks away after intercepting a pass to travel 70 yards against Andean. The Warriors won 21-7.

Morris Nies receives a pass from quarter-back Rick Mantz, on an easy first down.

The mighty Warriors begin many campaigns in like fashion, led by Wilson, Willsey, and Anthony.

With Trophy For Successful Season Of Conference Play

Tri-Captains of this year's varsity gridders included Jim Willsey, Tam Wilson, and Lannie Anthony. All three were football majors for three straight years.

Football fans were gladly frazen, while their heroes were introduced one at a time.

It's Football-a-Rama time and the Warriors defeated Griffith 14-7.

Heads up! Junior Varsity cheerleaders Jean Lynch, Joyce Newsame, Margaret Skidmare, Candy Carpenter, and Linda Smith are caught by a cameraman as they warm up before a game.

It takes more than just a crowd of people to create some of the sounds you hear at C.H.S. athletic events. The varsity and "B" team cheerleaders are largely responsible for this "organized noise." All the work is not done at the games, however, for the girls spend many hours after school practicing new routines, painting signs, making hoops, and working on any number of the various other displays for the games. This year, mascot Chelley Human and "Mr. Warrior," Bill Chancellor, also joined the cheering squad.

This year's varsity squad includes: Carolyn Duke, four years, Vivian McCay, four years, Judy Carpenter, four years, Karen Bjarklund, four years and currently captain, Ja Orban, three years, and Elaine Roll, one year.

"B" team cheerleaders are Candy Carpenter, two years, Jean Lynch, Linda Smith, Joyce Newsame, and Margaret Skidmare, one year each.

1963-64 Warriors Claim Calumet Conference

The Warriors clinched their championship title with a 67-54 win over Chesterton's Trojans in the final conference game of the season. Conference champs of the 1963-64 basketball season include: (kneeling) Doug Stricklett, Willie Cross, Roger Book, Bob Brown, Rick Mantz. (standing) Lee Berdine, Rick Chondler, Clarence Horper, Wayne Cannody, Ron Fortner, Morris Nies, and Oscar Coleman. Warriors are coached by Chris Traicoff.

Doug Stricklett's smooth and tricky offensive maneuvers plus his ability to move like a cat on defense, won him the Lake County Tourney's Most Valuable Player Award. Doug passes to Clarence Horper in the exhibition game at the beginning of the season.

Championship Title

The Calumet Warriors closed their regular season against Andrean, defeating the 59ers 98-59. The 98 points scored by the Warriors represents a record high for Calumet's gym.

The Warriors were successful on 18 of 21 adventures this year. Calumet showed its patency by defeating every team it faced this year. The losses were results of splitting double decisions with teams previously beaten by our own hardwood five.

After the regular season had ended, the ball club received a state rating of twenty-second.

Mr. Chris Traicaff, varsity basketball coach for thirteen years, led the 1963-64 Warriors to one of the best seasons on record, while also capturing the Calumet Conference crown.

Seven of the present varsity team will be returning next year to try and duplicate this year's record.

John Trotter leaps high in the air to sink another two-point-er against Wirt's Troopers.

The Warriors of Calumet will be strong in the Calumet Conference for many years to come. The Warrior's reserves and freshmen campaigns have been wonderfully successful. The reserve team won its last 15 in a row to finish with a mighty respectable 16-2 record.

The freshmen accomplished something that no one has ever done in the history of Calumet sports. They defeated Gary Roosevelt on their home court.

A combination of the two records gives Calumet a shining .800 average for the underclass campaign.

"Linger Awhile"

Throughout the day the activities of one or more clubs touches each of us in some way. Whether it is the Pep Club book cover sale or the faithful Junior Honor Society member in the candy store, few will dispute the fact that C.H.S. is a smoother-running and more efficient school because of the services performed by these organizations.

Aside from the services they make available, club officers and sponsors strive to attain goals and standards set by the club as well as to develop in each member an interest in the club's purpose. Organizations offer to their members a wide variety of experiences ranging from lending a hand in student government to attending hit musicals. The following pages highlight only a few of the many and varied C.H.S. club activities of 1964.

Polio Drive co-chairmen Carolyn Duke and Tony Valencia proudly display the trophy awarded Calumet for first place in the area Polio Drive.

Led By President Carolyn Duke,

The principle purpose of the Student Council is to provide a link between the student body and the school administration in running the school. Members of the Council are selected through separate class elections, and serve for a term of one year. Run by democratic procedures, this organization represents the student body and endeavors to vote upon each issue as they feel the majority of the students would vote.

The Polio Drive, several dances, and a talent show in late April are some of the activities sponsored by the Council. Members are also responsible for all Homecoming activities, for the pep sessions and assemblies, the juke box, and for class elections.

Senior class president Jerry Paartinga assisted by Nancy Haussmon, Homecoming chairman, and Barbara Nasby, announces the winning float and Homecoming queen.

Student Council members Terry Evans, Jim Ferguson, and Karen Bank are responsible for taking care of the juke box and supplying it with current records.

Student Council's Planning And Preparation Brings 1st Polio Trophy to C.H.S.

Student Council Officers: Jo Orban, secretary, John Coffman, vice-president, Livvy Kilbourn, treasurer, and Jerry Paartinga, parliamentarian.

Students Participate In F.T.A. And Chemistry

Officers of the 1963-64 Chemistry Club include Roger Book, president, Carolyn Duke, secretary, Larry Vereb, vice-president, and Don Kurts, treasurer.

Both the Chemistry Club and the Future Teachers of America encourage students to continue their education beyond four years of high school.

This year the F.T.A. toured Purdue University extension. They also sent nine student representatives to the F.T.A. Round-Up of clubs held at Horace Mann High School in November.

The Chemistry Club took a field trip again this year and visited the Gary Sheet and Tin Mills on March 10. The club also entertained two guest speakers from La Crosse High School—Mr. McCord, principal of La Crosse, and Mr. Leonard, chemistry instructor, who spoke on the qualifications for industrial chemists.

David Plews and Don Shourd work out an involved chemistry experiment.

Club Projects During 1963-64 School Year

Chemistry Club members, Jahn Nicara and Stanley Forscht, run tests on several solutions in the chemistry lab.

Lab techs Jahn Stock and Jahn Runian experiment with new equipment in chemistry.

Officers of the F.T.A. include Linda Wertz, president; Margan Lachney, vice-president; Marie Richards, secretary; and Mike Marrie, treasurer. Not pictured is reporter Ran Klimczak.

Honor Societies Set Standards Of

To further the promotion of such ideals as scholarship, leadership, character, and service is the purpose of both branches of the National Honor Society at Calumet.

This year the Junior Honor Society managed the candy store to build their treasury up to nearly $500. They held a bowling and pizza party for its members and also made tentative plans to tour the campus of Northwestern University. The Junior Honor Society also sponsors a Boys' State Delegate each year.

The Senior Honor Society sponsored a dance to raise money for the $100 scholarship to be presented to a deserving senior at the end of the year.

Both societies participated in a joint induction of new members held in mid-March.

Sherry Riddle, Barbora Coaley, Karen Bank, and Morty Kruk help serve punch and cake to parents and new members at the Honor Society induction.

Members of the Junior Honor Society run the condy store during lunch hours, a profitable project for the club.

Scholarship, Leadership, And Character

New members of the Honor Society enjoy refreshments following the induction service, held March 10.

F.H.A. And Homemakers

Bow and arrow in hand, club member makes ready to fire at Pat Wilson which doesn't seem to affect Yvonne Thompson at all.

Homemaking and F.H.A. members enjoy a skit presented at the annual induction services.

(Below) Future Homemakers of America officers include: Pat Thornberry, Cheryl Fields, LaDonna Frye, Linda Peters, and Kathy Vaneck. Mrs. Filomae Schmidt sponsors the club.

In 1952, eleven years ago last fall, a group of girls enrolled in the Homemaking classes of Calumet High School. They decided that they needed an organization or club for their department. A committee was appointed to do some research, and under the sponsorship of their teacher, Mrs. Esta Garland, they affiliated with the F.H.A. organization. Fifty-one names appeared on the first roster.

The project of Christmas baskets for needy families of the community has continued each year until it has become a club tradition. The number of families receiving the baskets has increased over the years until this year the club was able to provide eight.

Future Homemakers of America is a national organization for the study of homemaking in high school. It provides opportunities for students to have additional experience in planning and carrying out activities related to homemaking.

The overall goal of the organization is to help individuals improve personal, family, and community living, now and in the future.

Promote Their Goal, "Toward New Horizons" In 1963-64

Football Game, "Winter Rhapsody" Ball, And Loyalty Day Festivities

The victorious "Warriorettes" conquered the "Julius Caesar's Romans" in the annual Powderpuff football game by a score of 26-6. The team was coached by Tony Valencia and Roy Buikema.

This year, under the direction of its six capable officers, the G.A.A. undertook and successfully presented many events. Among these were the annual G.A.A. turn-about dance, a semi-formal ball entitled "Winter Rhapsody" for which Oscar and the Majestics Orchestra played in the beautifully decorated cafeteria; the Loyalty Day ceremonies, the annual Powderpuff Football Game, and the initiation of freshmen members. Initiates were required to wear their hair half set, wear clothes inside out, and shoes that didn't match. In the spring the annual awards banquet was presented, and letters, chevrons, and trophies were awarded to those accumulating a sufficient number of points.

Fourteen proud members of the G.A.A. display letter sweaters, representing an accumulation of 600 points. Chevrons signify 800 points, and stars are awarded to the previous year's officers.

Varsity Club Vote Allows Junior Lettermen

This year's Varsity Club began the year by purchasing a 16mm movie camera which was used to film the football team during practice and in regular games. The Club decided against purchasing jackets for the three-year lettermen and also chose to allow the juniors as well as the senior lettermen to wear them.

In mid-March the Club sponsored a dance for which Oscar and the Majestics provided the entertainment. In addition, they attended the Chicago Daily News Relays. Bus transportation and ticket expenses were supplied by the club treasury. Other club projects included the sale of programs at the football and basketball games, selling apples for the polio drive, and a car wash late in the spring.

To Wear Jackets; Semi-Semi Formal Dance Is Successful

One of the last projects undertaken by the Varsity Club was the semi-semi formal Varsity Club dance. Decorations and posters are displayed by Mike Bucko and Rony Stamper.

Language Clubs And TABS Brings Us

Calumet Students are hosts and participants to a wide variety of club activities. Such groups and organizations including those of French Club and Latin Club are open to students who are or who have been enrolled in either foreign language class. The French Club is designed to encourage interest in the customs and lives of French-speaking countries, as is the Latin Club designed to relate the students to Latin culture. Members of the clubs often visit museums and the art institute in Chicago to study French and Latin culture.

Drivers' Club officers include Chuck Spiller, treasurer, Livvy Kilbourn, secretary, and Dennis Hause, president.

French Club officers, Diane Kruse, Tom Tath, Linda Anserella, and Karen Mickey, examine Calumet High School stationery which the club sold as a fund raising project.

Other Worlds, While Drivers' Club Teaches Safe Travel In This One

Officers of the Lotin Club, Sodilitos Porvorum, include Rick Mantz, president, Jo Orban, vice-president, Shirley Woodward, secretary, Barbara Coolsey, treasurer, and John Nicora, reporter.

TABS president, Cheryl Van Vleck, struggles with a new shipment of books for the club members.

More often, though, the students are interested in things "closer to home," such as TABS and Drivers' Clubs. Through TABS (Teen Age Book Club) students may buy any book which suits their taste. The books are paper-back editions which enable the member to acquire many books as well as a suitable variety ranging from short fictions and novels to informative material and every day reading matter.

Drivers' Club caters mainly to those students who drive to school, but often includes many more interested parties. The club is based on driving safety and courtesy, not only at school but everywhere.

Sometimes various club members promote a "check" on cars in the student parking lot for safety features and so on.

Pep Club Organizes In Second Year On

For the cheering block at the Sectionals, Pep Club members wore red capes and formed a white "C". The capes were purchased by the Pep Club and made by the members.

Joe Cudzoil, Jo Orbon, Mike Bucko, Carolyn Duke, and Rick Montz urge the Warriors to add another conference victory to the season record.

Club Roster; Purchases Capes For Pep Block

John Santos and Bob Burkland encourage the Warriors to "stamp" Andean's 59ers.

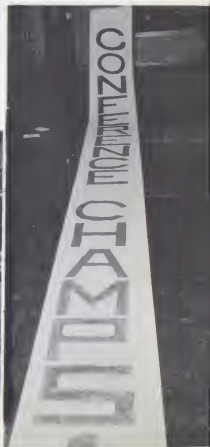

One of the largest and also newest clubs at C.H.S., the Pep Club, worked diligently to back all competitive sports this year.

To finance their efforts, the Pep Club sold Calumet bookcovers and bracelets. Funds went toward the purchase of red and white capes for the Pep block, and also towards supplementing bus transportation funds.

To accomplish their desired goals, the club was divided into committees. These included ushers for pep sessions under the direction of Tom Wilson; publicity committee headed by Marty Schmidt; and ways and means, whose chairman was Sherry Riddle. Because of the large size of the club (over 200 members) only officers, cheerleaders, and seniors could attend the meetings; a newspaper was published to keep other members informed on the club's activities.

Anticipating victory Pep Club members painted this sign which dropped from the ceiling of the gym when the Warriors clinched the conference championship.

Pep Club officers also include Barb Nasby, reporter, Tam Wilson, Vice-president, and Ran Fortner, Secretary.

The Arts Are An Essential Feature

Fine Arts Club officers Karen Bjarklund, treasurer, Frank Kuter, vice-president, Jo Orban, president, and Cheryl Fields, secretary, review the highlights of "Camelot" which the club saw in Chicago.

This year's Library Assistants officers include Sherry Burke, president, Judy Gawlik, vice-president, Pat Williams, secretary, and Carolyn Cambs, treasurer.

Of Cultural Life And Play A Definite Part In American Heritage

The Music Club at C.H.S. tries to develop a deep interest and understanding of music within its members. At monthly meetings, club members listen to a variety of selections and analysis each piece to determine the deeper meaning behind the record. In this way club members may better understand the composer's thoughts and attitudes at the time he composed his tune. The club's administrative branch is limited to only a president. A committee within the club chooses the records and makes arrangements to obtain them for each meeting. To insure variety in tastes, committee members are alternated every third meeting.

The Library Assistants perform a worthwhile service daily at Calumet. It is their job to aid Mrs. Morrison in operating the library. They not only check books out and make sure that the books' bindings are in good condition, but also are familiar with the Dewey decimal system of library filing. The club intended to publish booklets to be used as a guide to library reference.

Ben Fauver, president of the Music Club, is aided by Mary Zaharie and Don Slater as they get the record player to enjoy another club meeting.

Sherry Burke, Library Assistants president, tries to help a student find the necessary reference material for a term paper.

Music To C.H.S. Students With Spring Festival

Effort pays off, as Wayne Woodard and Jackie McLean received stuffed animals for their contributions to the mogazine sale.

"Practice makes perfect" might as well be the motto of those in the Acappella choir as they go over again and again the notes of music by Beethoven, Handel and other voted composers.

Besides singing for club organizations, hospitals, and school Christmas caroling, A Cappella members worked hard to give forth "great results" in their annual "Christmas Concert," and "Spring Festival".

In addition to their other activities A Cappella also hosted the "Spring Festival" in which area schools participate.

To provide the necessary funds to pay the balance on their robes, choir members sold magazine subscriptions and organized a candy sale for Valentine's Day.

The choir was directed by Mr. George Demeduk.

Sunshine Society officers include Charlotte Swiek, treasurer; Sharin Stage, president; Candy Ruth, corresponding secretary; Kathy Adinolfi, and Carolyn Lawson, recording secretary.

Secretarial Club And

Secretarial Club was formed for those girls interested in finding secretarial and stenographic positions soon after graduation. Membership is limited to those girls who are enrolled or have previously taken courses in typing and shorthand. This year's organization held a style show in late March where club members modeled the latest in spring attire from Marshall's.

The Sunshine Society is a charitable organization whose principle function is supplying needy families in the area with Christmas cheer baskets. This year the girls also sold jewelry to supplement their funds. In addition, they held a Halloween party and an initiation of new members in January. Representatives from the club also attended the District V convention and the officer-sponsor luncheon.

This year's Secretarial Club officers include Era Freeman, secretary; Mary Kirklín, treasurer; Sharan Wilson, president and Judy Wyrick, vice-president.

Secretarial Club members, Pam Duncan, Linda Wertz, review plans for their spring style show. Judy Wyrick, Barbara Harrison, and

Boys' Bowling League Formed At C.H.S.;

Wayne Waite and Jim Peterson, President and Treasurer respectively of the Boys' Bowling League, enjoy a little clowning around during the Friday afternoon competition.

Many boys at C.H.S. enjoy the sport of bowling. Although there is not inter-school competition, the boys form twelve teams within the school. The five best bowlers of the boys' league will compete in match game competition against the five best bowlers of the Merrillville league.

The bowling league at C.H.S. is sponsored by Irvin "Sam" Zielinski, and the shirts they wear were purchased by the Coca Cola Bottling Company.

The leading bowlers of the league as of March 14 are Larry Pace, Wayne Waite, Larry Vaupel, and Ken Dees.

The leading team is that of captain Jim Swank. Each team has four bowlers and the league has four substitutes in case of illness of a regular competitor.

Lorry Pace demonstrates his league leading style, while team members and opponents look on.

Jim Crosslin confers with John Nicoro about the scoring while Elmer Phelps listens attentively.

Y.F.C. And Audio Visual Serve Constructive Purposes

Youth For Christ plays a sort of behind-the-scenes role at Calumet. They meet after school in the lower chambers, but serve a worthwhile cause and produce lasting results.

Led by Val Bridgeman, Diane Kruse, Myron Blink, and Marianne Maynard, the C.H.S. Y.F.C. has become a valuable part of the local organization. Attending rallies, debates, and conducting their own panel discussions on teen-age problems, this behind-the-scenes club has become an organization we can all be proud of.

The up-and-coming thing in education is the use of mechanical devices. Audio Visual orders films and cares for projectors, screens, and record players, slide machines, the P.A. system, and just about anything along the line of electrical audio or visual learning aids.

The 1963-64 Audio Visual officers include Mike Flint, Carolyn Cambs, Julie Valenga, and Paul Swinsan, president.

Audio Visual Club is responsible for keeping the projectors in good working condition. Ron Ashby checks the equipment before running a film.

An Invitation To The World's Fair

Following a taped audition for the music committee of the World's Fair the Calumet High School Marching Band was chosen as the only Hoosier musical group to be invited to perform.

Constant drill is necessary to achieve the quality of precision in marching and accurate timing this band has mastered. In addition to the band members this fast-moving band driving outfit is built like a corporation with a team of banner and shield girls well co-ordinated majorettes and backed by a staff of active Band Boosters who demand and receive action and results.

Roger Corter, Warrior staff photographer, adjusts the flash on the press camera, while Dennis Doerr looks film in preparation for a basketball game of which pictures must be taken. Mike Freed watches attentively, hoping he has a knock for doing the same.

The 1963-64 school year marked the twelfth year of publication of the Warrior, Calumet's newspaper. A staff of ten and a very able editor were responsible for the entire operation. To finance the project, advertisements were sold to local business establishments.

A new method of printing was used this year which involved typing all copy in block form so that each line had exactly the same number of letters and spaces. This required that every letter and space of copy in the paper be counted accurately. Copy was then glued together, photographed, and the negative was used to print the paper.

This year's paper included news stories, columns, and many interesting features.

Someone very, very wise once said, "An editor's job is never done." Janet Corr, editor of the '64 Warrior, has successfully completed another edition of the newspaper.

Cross country meets, football games, basketball and baseball games, as well as track meets must be given adequate coverage, and Bill Choncellor, sports editor must see that this is done.

Resumes Publication Of C.H.S. Newspaper

(Below) After many weeks of collecting news, writing stories, and counting copy, reporters' Sharin Stage, Charlotte Swiek, and Bernice Merry's chief reward is seeing their copy in print.

Harry Cash and Carolyn Lawson help Judy Stansberry copy-read the last article before the Warrior goes to press.

After copy is written, counted, and typed, it must be glued in the appropriate space before it can be photographed for printing. Janet Carr, editor, and Flarine Smith and Yvanne Newsome, reporters, try to decide which story would best fill a given amount of space.

And Innumerable Hours of Preparation Result in "Linger Awhile—1964"

Dianna Poul and Pom Saroff compare notes on a cutline for the '64 Chieftain.

Though at times tempers flare and feelings are hurt, everyone on the '64 Chieftain staff has one goal in mind—to make their book better than those preceding it.

Preparation for the book begins late in June—nearly a year before it is issued. From the first picture taken to the last shipment of Tri-collates mailed to the printer, there is the ever-present pest called a deadline which keeps two very capable editors, a staff, and three photographers in a constant state of near panic! All those concerned strive to meet the last deadline early in March, and when "Linger Awhile" was finally distributed, who would suspect that someone left a "hole" on the sports page for the first deadline??

Members of the '64 Chieftain staff include: (top left) M. Freed, D. Poul, J. Sanders, J. McLean, J. Terrell, L. Miller, C. Jones, and V. Droke.

What goes where and how big should it be? Co-editor Jackie McLean trying to find the appropriate spot for each picture, checks a previous lay-out.

“Linger Awhile”

To our patrons and advertisers we owe a vote of thanks, for without their help and consideration, the publication of the 1964 Chieftain would not have been possible.

Few people realize the work that is involved in the development of a yearbook. All year there is a continuous and seemingly never ending series of deadlines to be met, pictures to be taken, events to attend and report on, layouts to be made, and of course the soliciting of advertisements. With all this, though, we hope that in the years to come the 1964 Chieftain will bring it's readers and subscribers to "Linger Awhile" upon many, many memories.

chart your future in this "INDUSTRY OF IDEAS"

The Graphic Arts Industry today is one of the ten largest industries in the United States . . . and still "busting its britches!" We expect to see more technical changes in the next ten years than in the past 500.

This means exciting careers for you in this vital business of idea communication . . . where salaries are well above the average pay of industry. Assignments are challenging. Responsibilities interesting. Advancement opportunities unlimited.

For information about career opportunities and scholarships offered by the printing, publishing and allied industries write to:
